Weekly Report

Of the Bullion Producers of Tombstone and Vicinity.

Encouraging Reports From the Various Mines all Along the Line.

The Pump Rod of the Grand Central Mine Almost Ready to Start Up Again.

But few of those acquainted with the extent of the Tombstone Mining District, but will admit that within its zone the extent and richness of its deposits, whether compact or wide spread as they may be proven to be, as so few practically unexplored and unknown.

The chlorider has done much to deepen this feeling, as he goes to work in a way very different from the man who obtains a day's pay from any company or corporation. He saves all the ore he can; he strips his ledge carefully and does not mix it with waste to be thrown on the dump, where it will remain until some enterprising man offers to clear away the said dump for the cartage of the same.

It therefore follows that a chlorider being so great an economiser of a mining claim ought to be encouraged and even the leasing of favorable mining locations to increase, there is nothing that would so help to render permanent this mining camp and keep it going on a satisfactory basis.

During the past week nothing of a decidedly important nature has transpired; the developments on several promising claims proceed apace, and are proving to be of greater importance to the owners than were at first thought.

The smelter below town has been shut down, pending the arrival of the manufacturer, in order that he may satisfactorily prove the working of the same. It strikes us however we have some very practical smelters in town, and were Dennis McCarty or Johnny Grossbeck to have the running of the outfit for ten days, they would have it going regularly if anyone could.

GRAND CENTRAL.

It seems necessary to chronicle from week to week the progress of the work on the pump rods; so we have to state that only two more of these rods have to be placed in position, which work will be finished within the next ten days. As soon as this is completed, the starting of the pumps will be in order, and if the question of "concert of action" referred to in last week's report is settled, no time can elapse before the pumps start up.

CONTINUED.

Some few more men have been employed here during the last week, and work progresses. About 20 tons of ore are daily shipped to the mill, which is kept running on this, as well as on the tailings of which a goodly tonnage still remains to be worked.

T. M. & M. CO.

Mr. Cheney informs us that every thing continues in regular course. The Girard mill is still drawing its supplies of about 80 tons daily from the Toughnut line, and no diminution in work has anywhere taken place.

The concentrators it is expected will be ready to set regularly to work in May list, which will somewhat increase the force on the company's payroll. They have lots of work to accomplish and will doubtless be one of the permanent sources of profit to the company.

At the West Side mine the flow of water has not diminished and in consequence no further sinking of the main working shaft is possible.

On the Owl's Nest, one of this company's southerly properties, being one of those now run by Gus Barron, a fresh body of ore has been met with this last week through which they have run 17 feet without getting through it. This ore goes 80 to 90 oz.

The supply of manganese ore, mixed with chlorides in the Lucky Cuss, shows no signs of decrease and daily shipments take place from here, as well as from the incline close to the lines of the Wedge and other claims in that vicinity.

LITTLE GIANT.

The property solely of Judge Jas. S. Robinson, again shows up well as an ore producer. The main shaft is now down 85 feet, from the bottom of which a drift has been run in on the ore body a distance of 60 feet. One hundred and eighty-five sacks of ore is now ready for shipment, and about 15 tons still remains on the dump yet to be assayed. When it is stated that for the past 7 months about $1,000 per month has been cleared from this property, the richness of the ore can be well imagined. More extensive work is contemplated, and to this end Judge Robinson has engaged the services of John Miller as foreman, a man well known in camp as a successful miner and a persevering and hard working citizen. We shall hear more of this property before long.

MARGARITA.

The work so vigorously inaugurated here since the recent strike of ore is continued. The main working shaft is down over 50 feet, and a drift on the ore body is being run. A short distance from the main shaft a new winze has also been started in order as soon as possible to ascertain the extent of the ore body. The ore from this mine goes in the neighborhood of $200, and the owner has a standing offer of $150 per ton delivered at Fairbank for all he can produce. The effect of the striking of ore in this part of the district has already been productive of work being started on several adjoining claims and specially we would make mention that on the EAGLE.

T. A. Atchison has set some men to work in the hope that he will be able to strike the ledge, that runs through the Margarita into this ground. So far nothing has been met with, but it is a forgone conclusion that before long we shall have to record the finding of ore here.

LILLIAN MINE.

On the 65-foot level a new body of ore has been met with going very high. No figures are given, as we have not seen the assays.

NOTES.

Dave Stewart goes as foreman to the Carlisle mine. His long experience as an Australian gold miner, rendering him thoroughly competent not only to take the position, but to do the best for his employer's interests that can be done. The Carlisle mine as is well known is a well-paying gold mine, it possesses a broad and good ledge and under the future management will, as it ought to be a dividend paying mine.

W. E. Ludlow has sold the South Western Extension of the Randolph mine, the present owner of the Margarita mine being the purchaser for a nominal sum.

The owners of the Vizina mine, are reaping a good harvest from the work of the chloriders thereon. Some of the ore from the same going as high as $400, good looking ore too.

A Hare After the Ashman.

On Sunday last E. G. Ashmun left this city for Tucson, being summoned there as a U. S. grand juror. As was to be expected but the U. S. Marshal would not let him off. Mr. Frank Hare hearing of the fact went to one of the leading tonsorial artists in the city to see if it were possible to attach a mustache to the upper covering of his bicorne, so that he would appear to be 21 years of age, and that by so doing the Marshal would summon him as a juror. The artist done his best for this Hare, and the ruse was successfully, and this morning with a smile reaching from his larynx to the first joint of the vertebrae, he came walking down the street and with the air of Acting-President Cleveland jumped into the stage and was off for Tucson to meet his pard Ashmun.

Frank will it is thought feel bad—if the Judge should say, "step aside boy only men can sit on this jury."

BENHAM'S DEATH.

The Act Evidently Committed While in a Temporary Fit of Insanity.

From parties who arrived from Hermosillo, Sonora, Sunday, your correspondent learns that Fred Sweet, the slayer of Charles Benham, was examined in court at 10 a. m. on the 7th, and when asked the reason he had to give for committing the deed, stated that he did not remember anything whatever of the occurrence. That he must have been insane from the fact that when he awoke this morning about day-break he inquired the cause of his being in jail, and intended sending word for Mr. Benham to have him liberated.

In answer to questions of the court he replied that he had no recollection of the events of yesterday.

At half past one in the afternoon at a second examination the prisoner was notified that the court found him guilty of a crime and that he would have to remain in jail for an unlimited time, until the court had fully investigated the case and passed sentence.

The court appointed an attorney for the prisoner. The prisoner stated that he wished some person to convey to Mrs. Benham the information that far from having any cause for taking Mr. Benham's life, he always regarded him as his best friend and felt sentiments of gratitude toward him; that he now cared nothing for his personal welfare or suffering, but the condition in which Mrs. Benham was placed affected him exceedingly. He was asked if his relations should be notified of his condition. He answered that he only cared for one person, his daughter, sixteen years of age. She was probably in New York.

In conversation he stated that owing to the loss by accident of one of his eyes that the least intoxication caused him to entirely lose his mind.

These facts being laid before the court the judge said there would be appointed a commission of medical experts to determine the fact of temporary aberration of the mind.

All of the statements of the prisoner concerning the affair were made by him under a feeling of emotion and tears.—Star.

Accidentally Shot.

A young man by the name of John Dunn was accidentally shot Sunday evening at his ranch, at the junction of the Gila and San Pedro. The particulars, as gleaned from Supervisor Williams, are as follows: Young Dunn, his brother and some Indians were sitting around a camp fire when John arose to stir up the latter. While he was rising his revolver fell out of the holster, struck upon the ground and discharged. The ball struck John just above the heart, glanced upwards and came out at the top of the shoulder. The wounded man was carried over to Mr. Cunningham's residence, which was near by, and was carefully cared for. The wound is painful, though thought not to be dangerous. The Dunn brothers are recent arrivals from Ottawa county, Iowa.—Florence Enterprise.
